KRISTIN TOUSSAINT, REPORTER

For some people, Thanksgiving is all about the turkey. For me, it's always been more about spending time around my dinner table with family. For thousands affected by the Merrimack Valley gas explosions, the latter won't be a possibility this year: many are still in temporary housing or without gas as the holidays approach. Columbia Gas is offering free Thanksgiving meals, but to some residents, it doesn't make up for the inconvenience. Read more about reactions to the Columbia Gas holiday meal offer and the latest on the recovery timeline inside and at metro.boston.us.

TRUMP SEEKS END
FOR FLORIDA RECOUNT

President Donald Trump on Monday urged Florida election officials to end a recount and declare his fellow Republicans the winners of disputed races in last week's midterm elections as a judge urged both parties to be careful with claims of fraud. As Florida officials scrambled to review more than 8 million ballots by Thursday, Trump, without providing evidence, cast doubt on the recount process. Leads by the Republican candidates in the races for a seat in the U.S. Senate and for the governor's office shrank as more ballots were tallied following last Tuesday's election. State law mandates recounts in elections where margin of victory is within 0.5 percentage points. Trump called for an end to the recount even though state rules allow election officials to wait 10 days for absentee ballots submitted by registered voters living outside the United States, including active-duty military personnel. A machine recount began over the weekend in the race between outgoing Florida Gov. Rick Scott and U.S. Sen. Bill Nelson, with another recount underway for the Florida gubernatorial race between Ron DeSantis and Andrew Gillum.

PER VATICAN, CLERGY
ABUSE ACTION DELAYED

The U.S. Conference of Catholic Bishops will delay action to deal with a crisis involving sexual abuse of minors by clergy until after a global meeting in February at the request of the Vatican, conference president Cardinal Daniel DiNardo said on Monday. The Catholic Church worldwide is reeling from crises involving sexual abuse of minors, deeply damaging confidence in the Church in the United States, Chile, Australia, Ireland and elsewhere. Cardinal DiNardo of Galveston-Houston said the Congregation for Bishops in Rome had sent a letter asking U.S. bishops to wait until after the Vatican-convened global meeting on sex abuse takes place in February. "We have accepted with disappointment this particular event that took place this morning," DiNardo said at a media conference on Monday, the opening day of the conference. "We have not lessened in any of our resolve for actions." In the United States, 13 state attorneys general have launched statewide investigations into sexual abuse by clergy.

IRAN HONORING NUKE DEAL
AMID NEW SANCTIONS: IAEA

Iran has continued to implement the main nuclear restrictions set by its 2015 deal with major powers even as the United States reimposed sanctions against Tehran, a U.N. atomic watchdog report showed on Monday. Iran has kept its stock of low-enriched uranium as well as the level to which it refines uranium within the limits set by the landmark deal, according to the International Atomic Energy Agency report to IAEA member states, obtained by Reuters. Several of the main items curbed under the deal, designed to lengthen the time Iran would need to build a nuclear bomb if it ever chose to do so, were verified shortly before U.S. sanctions were reimposed on Nov. 5 as a follow-up to Washington's withdrawal from the nuclear accord announced in May. A senior diplomat, however, later said that there was no sign Iranian behavior had changed since that date. "There is nothing that indicates that Iranian cooperation or the Iranian attitude has changed since the 5th of November." Iran's reserve of low-enriched uranium remained well below the deal's 202.8 kg limit at 149.4 kg, the quarterly report by the Vienna-based IAEA showed.

MAN WHO TRIED TO SELL
LENNON DIARIES CHARGED

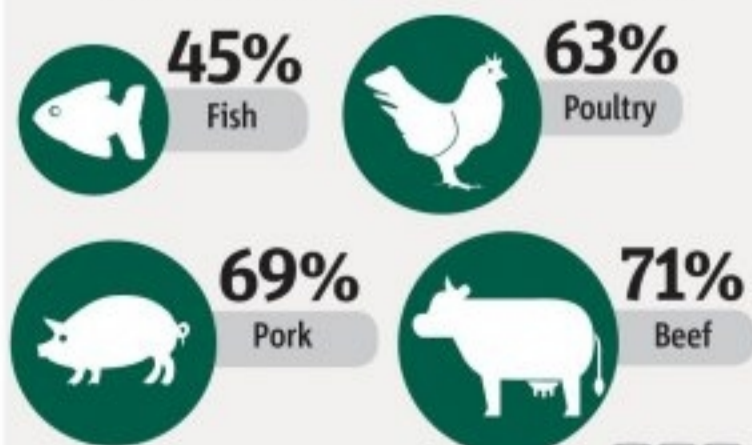

A 59-year-old man was charged in Germany on Monday on suspicion of trying to sell stolen diaries and other items that had belonged to the late Beatle John Lennon. The suspect, identified by the Berlin prosecutors' office only as Erhan G., in 2014 commissioned an auction house in Berlin to sell the items, receiving an upfront payment of $884,000, the office said in a statement. The items, which were stolen from Lennon's widow Yoko Ono in 2006 and ended up in Berlin, also included letters, a recording of a Beatles concert and a pair of Lennon's glasses. Among them was Lennon's last diary, which ended on Dec. 8, 1980, the day he was shot and killed in New York. It contained the entry that on that morning Lennon and Ono had an appointment with photographer Annie Leibovitz. The resulting portrait of a naked Lennon curled up around Ono on their bed ran on the January 1981 cover of Rolling Stone magazine. "Further documents, an illustration and another pair of John Lennon's glasses were found hidden in the suspect's car," the prosecutors' office said, adding it was charging the man with receiving stolen goods and conspiracy to fraud.

Couples Locking Bedroom Door (Again!) Thanks To Natural Intimacy Pill

Powerful new sex aid goes where none has gone before – straight to the brain

SAN FRANCISCO — Here's a 'behind closed doors' trivia question: Do you know the #1 complaint that prevents couples from enjoying a healthy, and fulfilling sex life?

If you guessed erectile dysfunction, you guessed right.

It is estimated that 30 million men, plus their spouses and/or partners are affected by this deflating condition.

Bliss-free Bedroom

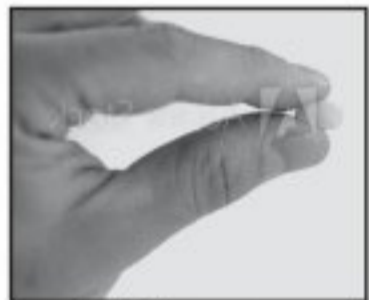

Can you guess the next most common complaint that puts the brakes to bliss in the bedroom?

If you guessed loss of sexual desire, in both men and women, you are correct.

These are not easy problems to fix.

For men, doctors may recommend oral drugs or painful, surgical implants.

For women, hormonal therapy may be recommended.

Couples of all ages are turning back the clock with an advanced oral formula that ignites passion and performance in both men and women

The First Pill for Men ... and Women

Thanks to a stunning breakthrough in nutritional science, now there's a prescription-free discovery that not only gives men the vigorous, healthy, natural erection they've been seeking, but it also re-kindles and intensifies the flames of sexual desire in both men and women.

It's called Noxitril. It's not a drug, vitamin or mineral.

It is four, exceptionally powerful nutritional supplements squeezed into a single capsule.

Have Fun Again

Noxitril safely restores sexual enjoyment and performance by reinforcing the four pillars of sexual revitalization: boosting testosterone; elevating natural reserves of nitric oxide, or erection fuel; sparking sexual urges and libidinous desires; and energizing sexual energy and vitality.

Ask users if Noxitril works as well as prescription ED drugs, and many may say, "No, it works better!"

Noxitril formulators have fast-tracked results with the addition of an energizing ginseng blend and a proprietary mix of 13 peak-performance, firestarters including muira puma, catauba, and tribulus.

The Miracle of Rapid Tumescence

Noxitril gives men what they, and their lovers want most – rapid tumescence, or fast-developing erections.

While there are many prescription-sold drugs that boost testosterone in the body, Noxitril contains one of the only natural sources that can consistently elevate this important hormone required for satisfying intimacy.

Sexual Urges Return

Noxitril scientists

Clinically tested, botanical firestarters electrify body and mind, restoring blood flow, creating sexual desire.

have harnessed unique extracts from the tongkat ali tree in Malaysian rainforests.

Biochemicals in this libido-boosting botanical have been shown in research to increase testosterone levels.

Natural Testosterone Rise

Noxitril locks-in instant-readiness by helping elevate and increase natural testosterone production.

Regardless of age or physical health, this natural boost in testosterone encourages a powerful sex drive, enhanced sexual function, more sexual energy, and a more pleasurable sexual experience for both sexes.

Confident Performance

For Noxitril user, David P., this prescription-free formula has been life-changing.*

"It helped get my confidence back to where it used to be," smiles David.

"Noxitril made me feel ready when the opportunity arises and helped me keep my love life exciting."

Locked... and Loaded

"I'd recommend this for guys who may have had any kind of trouble in the past and want to ensure they'll be ready every time," adds David.

"It's a definite confidence booster and decreases anxiety, too!"

But for men over the age of 50, increasing testosterone is, by itself, not enough to fully restore waning sexual powers.

Noxitril not only helps increase performance behind closed doors, it can also give men the potential to blow the door off its hinges!

The secret? Copious amounts of... 'erection fuel'.

Noxitril Begins with 'NO'

For a man to enjoy a healthy, robust erection, he needs ample amounts of a substance called nitric oxide, or 'NO'.

When NO levels are too low, often age-related, it becomes physically impossible for a man to achieve an erection.

Noxitril contains a fast-absorbing amino acid called L-arginine, which is readily converted to nitric oxide.

The more L-arginine a man consumes, the more nitric oxide he possesses... the more nitric oxide a man has, the larger and harder his response.

Eye-Popping Difference

Doug, F. is sold on Noxitril. "I have tried most of these new, natural male enhancements; none of them do what Noxitril does for me."

"Not only does it work fast, but I can also last for a while. I have recommended to all my friends who have the same problem."*

Works for Women, Too

Noxitril is equally effective for men and women. Like Viagra, arginine in Noxitril helps increase blood flow to the genital area, potentially increasing sensation to the sex organs and enhancing the pleasures of lovemaking... for both sexes.

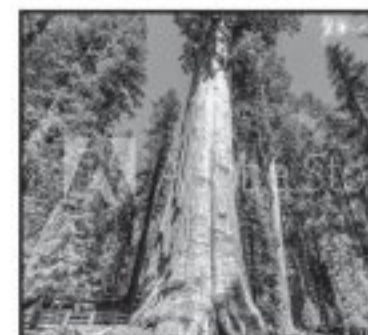

Feel the Urge

Noxitril sparks sexual desire with a prized extract called Maca.

In one study a whopping 60 percent of healthy subjects experienced enhanced sexual satisfaction from using this amazing herb. The placebo group's score was just as surprising — zero percent!

In another study, test subjects were asked to consume maca, just like that found in Noxitril, exactly one hour before sexual activity.

A full two-thirds of male patients unexpectedly experienced increased penile axial rigidity, or harder erections.

John M., age 67, says that Noxitril has made his life so easy. "No more doctor's visits, no more prescriptions, and no more side effects," laughs John.*

Not all Merrimack Valley residents impressed by holiday meal offered by Columbia Gas

A Thanksgiving meal is "too little, too late," they say, after being forced out of their homes.

KRISTIN TOUSSAINT
kristin.toussaint@metro.us

Columbia Gas is offering 20,000 Thanksgiving meals to those affected by the Merrimack Valley gas explosions, but some residents who haven't yet been able to return to their homes are disappointed by what they say is a "too little, too late" gesture.

Residents of Andover, North Andover and Lawrence have until Friday, Nov. 16, to reserve a Thanksgiving meal either to pick up or to eat at a local community center.

Dean Thornhill, 63, doesn't plan on taking the utility company up on either offer. Thornhill's North Andover home was one of the houses that caught fire in the Merrimack Valley gas explosions. His family is going to be displaced for about a year, he said.

GETTY IMAGES

"So a Thanksgiving meal in a high school gymnasium or auditorium just doesn't do a thing for us," he said. "To say, 'Come by North Andover High for a piece of turkey,' it's more an insult to me, and I think a lot of people view it that way. I wouldn't be surprised if not a lot of people were there."

Columbia Gas said Sunday that 3,700 of the 20,000 Thanksgiving meals on offer have already been reserved.

Online, Columbia Gas says it's not offering gift cards or something other than food because, "we, along with local community leaders, decided that providing a nice meal for pickup or to eat with the community is in the best community spirit."

Thornhill made a Facebook post publicly declining the Columbia Gas Thanksgiving dinner offer, to which some neighbors commented that they also thought the invitation was "ridiculous." To them, it's just a publicity stunt.

"Nobody has reached out to us. They know who we are, they know our house, they know they set the fire. They're more worried about covering their tail than doing the right thing," Thornhill said. "If they'd just admitted what they did and offered relief right away, I think they would've been a lot better off."

The Merrimack Valley gas explosions rocked the three Massachusetts communities on Sept. 13, 2018, affecting more than 8,000 gas customers, causing dozens of injuries and resulting in the death of a 19-year-old who was killed when a chimney fell on his vehicle.

Gas service has been restored to 65 percent of businesses and 47 percent of residential customers in Andover, North Andover and Lawrence, officials said. Initially, Columbia Gas set a deadline of Nov. 19 for full restoration after the explosions; now, the company says it's "House Ready" plan is expected to be completed between Dec. 2 and 16.

Until then, many homes still won't have gas, as the holidays approach and temperatures drop to the 20s overnight.

For Thornhill, whose home suffered extensive damage, that timeline won't help him anyway. His insurance company arranged for his family to relocate to an apartment in the meantime, which he says is "a nice place to be if you're homeless, but it's not home."

"This is the first time in 42 years that I haven't been in my house for Thanksgiving," he said. "That's where I want to be."

Comic book world mourns the loss of Stan Lee

Stan Lee, who dreamed up Spider-Man, Iron Man, the Hulk, Black Panther and a cavalcade of other Marvel Comics superheroes that became mythic figures in pop culture with soaring success at the movie box office, died at the age of 95, his daughter said on Monday.

As a writer and editor, Lee was key to the ascension of Marvel into a comic book titan in the 1960s when, in collaboration with artists such as Jack Kirby and Steve Ditko, he created superheroes who would enthrall generations of young readers.

"He felt an obligation to his fans to keep creating," his daughter J.C. Lee said in a statement to Reuters. "He loved his life and he loved what he did for a living. His family loved him and his fans loved him. He was irreplaceable."

She did not mention the circumstances of Lee's death but the celebrity news website TMZ said an ambulance was called to his Hollywood Hills home early Monday and that he died at Cedars-Sinai Medical Center.

"Stan Lee was as extraordinary as the characters he created," Bob Iger, chairman and CEO of The Walt Disney Co. said in a statement. "The scale of his imagination was only exceeded by the size of his heart."

Disney bought Marvel Entertainment in 2009 for $4 billion in a deal to expand Disney's roster of characters, with the most iconic ones having been Lee's handiwork.

Lee was known for his cameo roles in most Marvel films, pulling a girl away from falling debris in 2002's "Spider-Man" and serving as an emcee at a strip club in 2016's "Deadpool." In the 2018 box-office hit "Black Panther," which featured Lee's leading black superhero, he was a casino patron.

Americans were familiar with superheroes before Lee, in part thanks to the 1938 launch of "Superman" by Detective Comics, the company that would become DC Comics, Marvel's archrival.

Lee was widely credited with adding a new layer of complexity and humanity to superheroes. His characters were not made of stone — even

Two nor'easters to bring wet Boston weather this week

Boston weather will be a bit unpleasant this week as two coastal storms are expected to drop some precipitation on the area.

kristin.toussaint@metro.us

Boston weather will remain unpleasant this week as two nor'easters make their way to the New England area.

Two coastal storms are expected to bring "potentially damaging winds" and heavy rain to the Boston area, and potentially some mixed precipitation or snow in the Berkshires and even near Boston, according to the National Weather Service.

The first storm will move up the coast overnight Monday into Tuesday, turning Boston weather wet and windy. Steady rain is expected throughout the day Tuesday, easing up around 4 or 5 p.m. in Boston, and wind gusts could be as high as 35 miles per hour.

Forecasters with the National Weather Service Boston office are hoping that "the heaviest rain and strongest winds remain offshore, out to sea," the service said on Twitter. "We honestly don't need any more rain right now."

After that first storm will come a second, forecasters say, which will turn Boston weather wintry with cold temperatures and mixed precipitation Thursday night into Friday.

Temperatures in the Boston area will dip from a high of 51 degrees on Tuesday to a high of 35 on both Wednesday and Thursday before warming up just slightly to a high of 45 on Friday.

Still, the storm is expected to bring a bit of snow to Boston overnight into Friday, which will eventually turn into more rain.

"It's too early to say whether there will be any real accumulation early Friday morning, but the timing may be such that some inland areas get their first taste of winter driving for a few hours," meteorologist Dave Epstein wrote for Boston.com. "This shouldn't be a big snowstorm, but it's a little early to forecast with certainty. Eventually, enough mild air will move in to change any wintry precipitation to rain before it all comes to an end later Friday."

After these two storms, Boston weather should dry up for the weekend, forecasters say.

BRIEF

Diageo to sell 19 brands to Sazerac for $550 million

Diageo Plc. is selling 19 lower-end spirits brands including Seagrams VO Canadian whisky and Goldschlager cinnamon schnapps to U.S.-based Sazerac for $550 million, as it focuses on its premium labels such as Johnnie Walker in the United States.

The divestiture is the latest move from the world's largest spirits company to trim its portfolio and concentrate more closely on its core business. In recent years, it has sold interests in wine, Red Stripe beer and the Gleneagles hotel and golf resort.

Diageo, also known for Smirnoff vodka and Guinness stout, said on Monday it would return the net proceeds of about $438 million to shareholders through a share repurchase.

The sale, which also includes whisky brands such as Seagram's 83, Seagram's Five Star and Jamaican rum Myers's, will reduce Diageo's pre-exceptional earnings per share by 1.9 pence per share in the first full financial year after closing. REUTERS

Authorities search for missing in wind-whipped Calif. wildfires

Authorities searched on Monday for more than 200 people unaccounted for in one of the wildfires rampaging through parts of California, voicing concern about a possible rising death toll, as gusty, dry winds spurred the spreading flames.

The raging blaze in northern California known as the Camp Fire, the state's most destructive on record, had left at least 228 people missing as of early Monday, according to Kory Honea, sheriff of Butte County, site of the fire. That fire and one in southern California called the Woolsey Fire have killed at least 31 people.

The blazes left behind scenes of utter ruin, with homes and businesses reduced to charred wreckage and the winds also spreading large amounts of ash.

Both fires have been whipped up by hot, dry winds. Winds of up to 40 miles per hour were expected to continue in southern California through Tuesday, heightening the risk of fresh blazes ignited by scattered embers, while the winds were forecast to begin diminishing later on Monday at the site of the Camp Fire. The wildfires flared in two new locations on Monday morning in southern California, officials said.

The fires have displaced more than 224,000 people, officials said. About 8,000 firefighters using fire-fighting equipment including helicopters and air tankers were battling the flames, with assistance coming from out of state.

The Camp Fire, 40 miles north of Sacramento, burned down more than 6,700 homes and businesses in the town of Paradise, more structures than any other wildfire recorded in California.

The fire had scorched more than 113,000 acres and was 25 percent contained, officials said on Monday. Its death toll of 29 equals that of the Griffith Park Fire in 1933, the deadliest wildfire on record in California.

The blaze has probably caused between $2 billion and $4 billion in insured property damage, Morgan Stanley estimated in a report on Monday.

Speaking on CNN, Honea said while he holds out hope that many people listed as missing will turn up safe, "given what we've dealt with so far with casualties as a result of this fire, I have concerns that it [the death toll] will rise."

"These are extreme conditions."

L.A. County Fire Dept.
Chief Daryl Osby

In southern California, the Woolsey Fire had burned more than 91,000 acres and was 20 percent contained, with 370 structures destroyed, officials said. The fire had forced authorities to issue evacuation orders for a quarter-million people in Ventura and Los Angeles counties and beachside communities including the Malibu beach colony, home to many celebrities.

At least two people have died in the Woolsey Fire, which is 20 miles long and 14 miles wide, threatening 57,000 structures, officials said.

"These are extreme conditions. If there's a fire in your neighborhood, don't wait for an evacuation order, leave," Los Angeles County Fire Department Chief Daryl Osby told a news conference.

Many of those allowed to return were left without power or cellphone service, even if their homes were spared by the flames. REUTERS

Why stay in school longer than you have to?

PAT KING
patrick.king@metro.us

The months after you graduate from college can be some of the most transformative of your entire life. While getting through your degree is its own battle, figuring out where you are going to land is a journey unto itself. While most students generally take all four years to fulfill their bachelor's degree, many students find ways to speed up the process by graduating early.

With the average school year for a private college at $32,000 and the average state school costing on average $12,500 per year, the prospect of graduating either a full semester or a full year early should be attractive to all students who hope to not be buried in student loans for the foreseeable future.

There are a few different ways that students can graduate early if they take the initiative early on in their college careers.

$12.5K
Average yearly cost of state college

$32K
Average yearly cost of private college

Stacking your semesters

The simplest way to graduate earlier than your degree normally allows is to take more classes each semester than is generally advised. While the norm is that students take 12 credits a semester to fulfill their bachelor's degree, by taking one extra four-credit course per semester you can earn a full semester's worth of credits, allowing you to graduate one semester early. By taking on this heavy a course load, you may cement yourself as a temporary resident of the school library. But just think of all of the free time you'll have to get yourself in order by graduating a semester early?

Accelerated degree programs

While most degrees take a number of years to satisfy at most colleges and universities, some schools are starting to understand that giving up the amount of time previously associated with going to college no longer makes sense for the majority of people in our country.

Many schools now offer what they call accelerated degree programs for this exact reason. These degrees can either be obtained on campus, online, or a mixture of the two, and can help students to earn their degrees as quickly as within 18 months. This is perfect for those who are trying to balance their studies with the work they need to do every week to pay for this education.

Some schools also offer options where students can earn both their undergraduate degree and their master's degree in a combination program much shorter than the completion of each degree separately would take.

Why stay in school longer than you have to? With these options, you can earn your degree and see what this big ol' world has in store sooner than later.

IN COOPERATION WITH STONEHILL COLLEGE

Earn your master's in Special Education from Stonehill College

A helping hand is a powerful thing.

By Pat King

The need for great Special Education teachers in our schools has never been more important than right now. It has been estimated that 6.8 million children between the ages of three to 21 receive special education in our schools and with those numbers, the more teachers we have that are trained to help the better. With Stonehill College's master's degree in Special Education, prospective teachers will learn from a program that is built on a philosophy of inclusion and prepares teachers for success in the evolving special education landscape at public, private and parochial schools.

Stonehill College's special education program is designed to help those who are looking to meet the needs for earning an initial license specializing in Moderate Disabilities for children in PreK-8th grade. The program is perfect for those who are looking to earn their initial license or to simply expand their horizons on the subject with an additional license to complement a current credential. Students will be able to take classes that offer hands on experience in the field and a number of different settings that are tailored to both your schedules and your interests as well as making you the best well rounded Special Ed teacher possible.

With courses that focus directly on behavioral management, language and literacy in Special Education, specific issues that affect Special Education, teaching difficult subjects for students who need special resources, and assessment techniques to see where students are progressing and falling behind, teachers who finish this program will have a complete understanding on how to make positive changes in their students' lives. And by learning at your own schedule, Stonehill means exactly that, as they offer both part-time programs as well as an accelerated 12-month program to help you get into the classroom faster.

According to the Bureau of Labor Statistics, the need for Special Education teachers in our country is growing at an incredibly fast rate as they predict that industry will grow 8 percent from 2016 to 2026. That means that by earning a degree from a school like Stonehill College you will have a greater chance at entering the workforce with the skills you will need in such a burgeoning field.

What's better than eating at one of the best restaurants in Boston? How about feasting at three of the Hub's top spots in just one night. That's right, the JK Food Group, the collection of acclaimed restaurants by James Beard award winners Ken Oringer and Jamie Bissonnette, is bringing its epic food crawl back this winter. Here's everything you need to know about the JK Crawl.

How does it work?

Keep the holiday feasts going and snag a reservation for the JK Crawl this winter. Guests will get to choose three spots to visit from a list of four for the tour, which will feature special off-menu options from Toro, Coppa, Little Donkey and — new for this year — Uni, the fan-favorite sashimi bar by Oringer and Tony Messina. Uni was recently named No. 1 on Boston Magazine's list of the best restaurants in Boston, which includes each of the other hot spots on the crawl.

"Chefs rarely have time out of the kitchen, so we have to pack all of our favorites into one night," Bissonnette said in a release. "The crawl is our way to give guests an experience that we cherish!"

Reservations for groups of two to eight people are now available and can be booked via info@jkfoodgroup.com. The JK Crawl costs $200 per person, and reservations can be scheduled for Sunday through Thursday, from Jan. 2 through March — just make sure to let them know if you have any allergies or dietary restrictions.

Transportation will be provided between the three locations, however date requests will be subject to restaurant availability and cancellations will only be free if they're made more than 10 days in advance.

What's on the menu?
When it comes to the food, guests can expect all sorts of secret bites that aren't usually on the menu. While items may vary depending on their seasonality and availability, crawl

BOSTON, MA 02108
TEL: 617-635-0603

MA DEPARTMENT OF HOUSING & COMMUNITY DEVELOPMENT

BOSTON, MA 02114

These notices shall satisfy two separate but related procedural requirements for activities to be undertaken by the City of Boston's Department of Neighborhood Development and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts Department of Housing and Community Development.

REQUEST FOR RELEASE OF FUNDS

On or about November 30, 2018, the City of Boston, acting through its Department of Neighborhood Development (DND), and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, acting through the Department of Housing and Community Development (DHCD), will individually submit requests to the U.S. Department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) for the release of Federal funds through the HOME Investment Partnerships Program pursuant to the authority of Title II of the Cranston-Gonzalez National Affordable Housing Act, as amended (42 U.S.C. 12701 et seq.), as amended, for the following project:

TALBOT COMMONS PHASE I:

Talbot Commons Phase One is a proposed mixed-use development located in the Codman Square neighborhood of Dorchester (Boston) containing forty (40) units of affordable rental housing, three dedicated artist live/work spaces, and approximately 700 square feet of artist shared gallery/workspace. Development plans involve the rehabilitation of two existing properties at 18 New England Avenue and 15 Mallard Avenue which contain 6 housing units; new construction of two buildings at 17 Mallard Avenue and 14 New England Avenue containing 12 housing units; the rehabilitation of three existing buildings at 270 Norfolk Street and 4-6 Norfolk Terrace which contain 18 housing units; and new construction of one building at 5 Norfolk St. containing 4 housing units. The development also includes seven (7) off-street parking spaces and 18 on-site parking spaces at Norfolk Terrace.

A transit oriented development (TOD), Talbot Commons Phase One is located in close proximity to the MBTA Commuter Rail Fairmount Line, and shuttle bus service between the campus and the Forest Hills MBTA transit station will be available to all residents. The project developer is Codman Square Neighborhood Development Corp. (CSNDC), and the total project cost is approximately $15,250,936, with an anticipated $700,000 in federal HOME funds from the City of Boston, and an anticipated $550,000 in federal HOME funds from DHCD.

FINDING OF NO SIGNIFICANT IMPACT:

The City of Boston has determined for itself and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts concurs that the project will have no significant impact on the human environment. Therefore, an Environmental Impact Statement under the National Environmental Policy Act of 1969 (NEPA) is not required. Additional project information is contained in the Environmental Review Record (ERR) on file at the DND Compliance Unit, 26 Court Street, 11th Floor, Boston, MA, or at DHCD, 100 Cambridge St, Suite 300, Boston, MA, 02114, and may be examined or copied weekdays 9:00 a.m. to 4:00 p.m., excluding legal holidays.

PUBLIC COMMENTS

Any individual, group, or agency may submit written comments on the ERR to the DND Compliance Unit, 26 Court St, Boston, MA 02108, or to DHCD, 100 Cambridge St, Suite 300, Boston, MA 02114. All comments received by November 29, 2018 will be considered by the City of Boston and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts prior to authorizing submission of a request for release of funds. Comments should specify which notice they are addressing.

RELEASE OF FUNDS

The City of Boston certifies to HUD that Martin J. Walsh, in his official capacity as Mayor, and DHCD certifies Catherine Racer, in her official capacity as Associate Director of Housing Development, consents to accept the jurisdiction of the Federal Courts if an action is brought to enforce responsibilities in relation to the environmental review process and that these responsibilities have been satisfied. HUD's approval of the certification satisfies its responsibilities under NEPA and related laws and authorities, and allows the City of Boston and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts to use Program Funds.

OBJECTIONS TO RELEASE OF FUNDS

HUD will accept objections to its release of funds and the City of Boston's and the Commonwealth of Massachusetts' certification for a period of fifteen days following the anticipated submission date or its actual receipt of the request (whichever is later), only if they are on one of the following bases: (a) The certification was not executed by the Certifying Officer of either the City of Boston or the Commonwealth of Massachusetts; (b) the City of Boston or the Commonwealth of Massachusetts has omitted a step or failed to make a decision of finding required by HUD regulations at 24 CFR Part 58; (c) the grant recipient has committed funds or incurred costs not authorized by 24 CFR Part 58 before approval of a release of funds by HUD; or (d) another Federal agency acting pursuant to 40 CFR Part 1504 has submitted a written finding that the project is unsatisfactory from the standpoint of environmental quality. Objections must be prepared and submitted in accordance with the required procedures (24 CFR Part 58) and shall be addressed to the Environmental Officer, Department of Housing and Urban Development, Thomas P. O'Neill Federal Building, 10 Causeway Street, Boston, MA 02222-1092. Potential objectors should contact HUD to verify the actual last day of the objection period.

No help on the way for Patriots

The Pats have to make do with what looks like an incomplete roster.

MATT BURKE
matthew.burke@metro.us

Maybe Dion Lewis has a point.

The Titans running back and former Pats star blasted New England after Tennessee's romp of a win on Sunday, stating, "When you go cheap, you get your ass kicked."

Lewis was clearly pointing to the fact that the Pats let players like himself, Malcolm Butler and Danny Amendola leave via free agency this past offseason. The Pats also traded wide receiver Brandin Cooks, who is now thriving with the best team in the NFL in the Los Angeles Rams.

The Patriots seem to be getting by OK without Lewis as Sony Michel, James White and even Cordarrelle Patterson have picked up the slack at running back. But it's the departed receivers like Amendola and Cooks that is really hurting them right now.

Patriots receiver Chris Hogan has underwhelmed so far this season.

GETTY IMAGES

Sure, Josh Gordon has looked great in his limited time here. But how much better would he look right now if the Pats had Amendola in the slot and Cooks joining him on the outside?

Bill Belichick has often gained praise for knowing "when to cut ties" with players. When a player becomes too pricey, Belichick simply lets them walk or sends them packing.

So far, however, it looks like he made a mistake with Amendola and Cooks.

Neither of them are putting up Antonio Brown-like numbers, but their stats this season with their new teams are consistent or slightly better with what they've done throughout their careers. Amendola has 47 catches for 456 yards through 10 games so far this year with the Dolphins. By comparison, he had 61 catches for 659 yards in 15 games last year for the Pats. Statistically, this year in Miami, he's on pace to have his best season ever.

Cooks is also set to smash his career highs this

Bye-bye, bye?

The Patriots (7-3) are used to having a first-round bye in the playoffs in January, but they very well could have to play in a Wild Card game this coming postseason. The Chiefs (9-1), Steelers (6-2-1), Texans (6-3) and Chargers (7-2) are all in the mix for a bye in the first round of the AFC playoffs. The good news for the Pats is that their schedule is pretty favorable the rest of the way as they will see the Bills again and the lowly Jets, twice. Games at home against the Vikings, at Pittsburgh and at Miami are difficult but certainly winnable.

year with the high-flying Rams. Cooks already has 51 catches for 857 yards in 10 games this year. Last year with the Pats, he had 65 catches for 1,082 yards.

Those numbers become even more embarrassing for the Patriots when you consider that their leading receiver so far this season is actually a running back. Yup, White is leading the Pats in receiving yards in 2018 with 562 so far on 66 catches.

Rob Gronkowski is always hurt. Julian Edelman seems to have lost a small step. And Chris Hogan has been MIA this season. Hogan is on pace for the worst of his three seasons with the Patriots this year as he has just 23 catches for 333 yards.

Brady seems to be shying away from targeting Hogan these days as he's thrown to him just three times over the past two weeks. Hogan does not have a single catch the past two weeks.
